OUTSIDE WORK FOR NAVY YARDS URGED BY COXEY

"General" Tells Denby Such a Policy Would Relieve Unemployment.

By International News Service. Secretary of the Navy Denby was requested today by Jacob "General" Coxey, of "Coxey's Army" fame, to throw the navy yards open for work done ordinarily by private firms in the effort to remedy the situation among navy yard employees. These employees have just been indefinitely suspended in large numbers, due to slack work.

Coxey called on Denby today to present his request, which was along somewhat similar lines to the proposals made to President Harding by the head of the machinists' union.

Commenting on all such projects, naval officials stated that while such a move might benefit navy yard employees, if it worked at all, would have an undesirable effect among the machine trades employed on the outside. There was manifested a reluctance to "throw the Government into competition with private business," especially at this time.

Navy officials pointed out that the same trades now out of employment might be benefited, but would be so only at the expense of their fellows, who already have been suffering for some time from the depressed industrial conditions prevalent. The President, it was stated, has not called the machinists' proposals to the attention of the Navy Department. The navy is anxious, it was stated, to help its unfortunate employees, but did not wish to be placed in an anomalous position unwittingly.

U. S. ON TRAIL OF MEN GIVEN BOSCH SHARES

Federal Agents Will Clear Up "Distribution" of Huge Block of Stock.

Who received that part of $6,000 shares of Bosch Magneto Company stock alleged to have been distributed in 1918 as "tokens of friendly interest?"

Department of Justice investigators are trying to clear up this phase of the scandal surrounding the sale of the company to Martin E. Kern and his associates for what was declared to be only a fraction of its worth.

Future developments made the stock gift a highly valuable one, and Government investigators are anxious to know what "services" the recipients performed.

Part of the $6,000 shares was "distributed" and the remainder offered to the public at $65 a share. The price advanced rapidly. During the year ended September 30, 1918, when Allen Property Custodian Palmer had control of the company for five months, the profits were equivalent to almost 15 per cent of the price for which the property was sold.

The Department of Justice also is anxious to determine whether those who received the stock gifts were also large purchasers of the stock that was sold at $65 a share. When the stock has been traced the holders will be questioned.

Merton E. Lewis, attorney, asserts that the appraisal of the Bosch Company's property by the Manufacturers' Appraisal Company showed the value at the time Palmer took it in charge was almost $9,000,000. The sale price of $4,150,000, therefore, was less than half the true worth. By obtaining amendments to the Trading-with-the-Enemy Act, Lewis says, Palmer was able to transfer to the American Bosch Magneto Company the considerable number of patents which Palmer admitted covered "every conceivable phase of invention and improvement in the art" (the manufacture of magnetos).

It is pointed out that without these patents the Bosch property would have had little value. Of these patents, Palmer said in his report:

"If put on the books of the Bosch Magneto Company at a dollar it was an over-appraisal because the Bosch Magneto Company did not own one of them."

"Dandarine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear as mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Dandarine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.—Advertisement.
